If the Purchaser postpones the Shipment Date, notwithstanding that all conditions as detailed in clause 4 of the Quotation have been met by the Purchaser, the Purchaser shall pay to TOMRA compensation in an amount upto 3% of the Contract Price or parts thereof depending on when TOMRA has received notification from the Purchaser in writing (the "Shipment Delay Notice") of their intention to postpone the Shipment Date as follows:

Notwithstanding Clause 8.3, the Contract Price in respect of the rejected Goods shall be payable to TOMRA within thirty (30) calendar days of delivery of the remedied or replacement Goods.

4.3 Risk of Loss or Damage. Risk of loss of or damage to the Goods shall pass from TOMRA to the Purchaser in accordance with the agreed Incoterms 2020 indicated in the Agreement. If no Incoterms are indicated in the Agreement, the Goods shall be deemed to be sold FCA.

In this clause: "Licence" means these Software Licence Conditions. "Software" means the software supplied with the Goods which can be used throughout the life of the Goods but does not include any software upgrades.

The Purchaser shall only use the Software on or in conjunction with the Goods supplied and such computers supplied or approved by TOMRA until this Licence is terminated as may be the case on the terms set out below.

TOMRA reserves all rights to the Software not expressly granted to the Purchaser in this Licence. This Licence is a Licence to use the Software only and in no way constitutes a sale or any other form of disposition.

The Purchaser acknowledges TOMRA owns the Software and retains title to and ownership and possession of the original versions of the Software. This includes all copies of the Software or any part of it, which may from time to time come into the possession or control of the Purchaser and whether or not made by or for the Purchaser.

TOMRA owns the copyright in the Software. Except as this Licence may expressly permit, TOMRA forbids any copying of the Software or any part of it whether in its present form or modified, merged or included in any other software or magnetic printed or other media or materials. The Purchaser will be liable in respect of any copyright infringement caused or encouraged by any failure of the Purchaser to observe any of the terms of this Licence.

The Purchaser is entitled in accordance with the warranty in this Agreement to make and maintain one copy of the Software for backup purposes and will exercise similar security precautions in respect of that copy. If for any reason the Purchaser loses both copies or any part or parts of them, TOMRA will supply a further copy within five business days following payment of the current market cost of physically producing that further copy.

TOMRA retains all ownership and intellectual property rights to the data once it is in a depersonalized aggregated state and has been co-mingled as may be required, with other data for TOMRA's business purposes.

TOMRA shall not withhold its consent in a situation where such demonstration is reasonably necessary to enable the Purchaser to more effectively use the Goods and provided TOMRA is satisfied that the Purchaser has adopted reasonable security precautions for the protection of the Software.

Some of the Software that TOMRA supplies to the Purchaser may include third party software that TOMRA did not develop. The Purchaser agrees to accept such third-party software subject to the terms and conditions of the applicable third party Licence agreement.

This Licence is personal to the Purchaser alone, and the Purchaser shall not assign this Licence without the prior written consent of TOMRA.

The Software is an integral part of the Goods supplied pursuant to the Agreement. If the Purchaser sells the Goods, the Licence can only pass with TOMRA's consent. Any transfer, assignment, renting, leasing, sale or other disposition of the Software or any part of it without such consent is a breach of this Licence.

This Licence will continue in force until termination by written notice by TOMRA, or until breach by the Purchaser of any term of this Licence. Upon any breach, the Licensor will provide the Licensee with 14 days from the date of the breach to rectify the breach, if the breach is not rectified, this Licence will automatically terminate without necessity of further notice from TOMRA. On termination the Purchaser will on demand return to TOMRA the Software together with all copies then in its possession or control whether such copies are authorized under this Licence or not.

Upon termination, the Purchaser may not use the Software and TOMRA may disable the Software by accessing the Software remotely or directly.

TOMRA may create from time to time updated or expanded versions of the Software. TOMRA will advise the Purchaser when any updated or expanded versions become available and will advise the subscription options for the updated / expanded version and the price for that service and will supply those upgrades and/or expansions to the Purchaser on execution of an appropriate subscription or service agreement, or execution of a one-off upgrade sale agreement and payment of TOMRA's price for the particular updated or expanded version.
